

Big Creative Ideas

We are always being asked, "Where can we find really cool design ideas?"

What's cooler than the movies?

This morning I went to the web, grabbed some movie graphics and re-designed them into yearbook layouts and headline treatments. You can do it as well. Inspiration is everywhere.

An independent film called "Driving Lessons," starring Rupert Grint of Harry Potter fame, was the inspiration for this layout that would take up one side of a DPS on friends.

The Helen Mirren film, "The Queen," had an excellent web poster that I adapted to a feature about a beloved administrator.

The latest Martin Scorsese film, "The Departed," had a wonderful web page that led to this football headline.

This technique of putting photos inside of text can be done in Photoshop for those schools using YTO or directly in InDesign for schools using YearTech.

Marla Smith Teresa Michaels Mary Williams Elena Shoemaker

From left to right: Bob Smith, Mandy Jenkins, Todd Holland, Mark Cohen, Harriet Samboca, Taylor Jones, Marla Morralles, Tommy Kincaid, Marsha Joyner, Kell Smythie, Mary Ellen Lafferty, Tammy Marshall, Bethany Stewart, Callie Shaw, Renee Randolph, Mr. Mark Chan, Harvey Stewart, Carrie Grint, Malea DuPree, Tom Michaels, Edie Arnold, Beth Shamoy.

Something to hang on your yearbook room wall to generate your own

Big Ideas